

IROS 2020: Robotics Inspired Biology Workshop

As a part of the workshop, we invited scholars from different stages of academia to answer the following questions and share their perspectives.

1. "How are robots today different from animals, and why do you think that is?"
2. "How is studying an animal versus a robot different, and what can we learn from doing both?"